WEEK 3

STEVEN FURTICK: "7TH LAP" (2014)

We often admire individuals with the faith to start something new, but how often do we commend others who actually have the fortitude to see something through to its completion? Many people who take steps of faith and trust God at the beginning of new seasons or opportunities stop short. But if we keep a Godly perspective and trust God through the process, we'll see his promises come to fruition in our lives.

- If faith helps us start a journey, what gives us the "fortitude to finish"?
- Describe a situation you've been through where "stopping short" seemed to be the best option?
- How did you motivate yourself to keep walking even when it didn't seem to be working?
- What's do you think of the phrase: "We want a battle won for us; God wants a battle won in us?"
- Describe a situation where God used a wall in front of you to win a victory inside of you.
- If praise shifts our perspective, how can we incorporate praise into our lives outside of church?
